

When Bryan got home from his first moose hunt, he delivered meat to various households in the community.

tpi'tnewey

Cards are to be cut along dotted lines before distributing to learners.

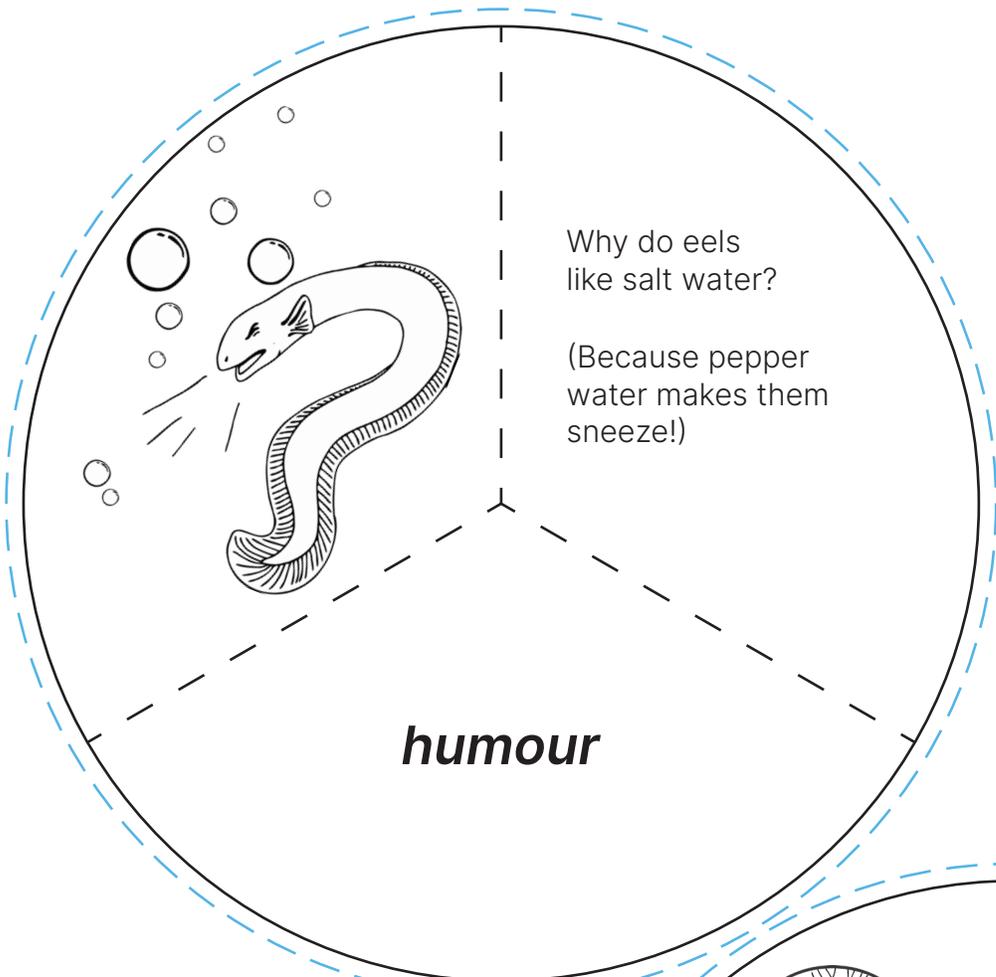

Before treaties were signed, Saqmaq came together to reach agreement. Today, Saqmaq still gather together to discuss important decisions.

consensus

Drawings by Sipu Julien

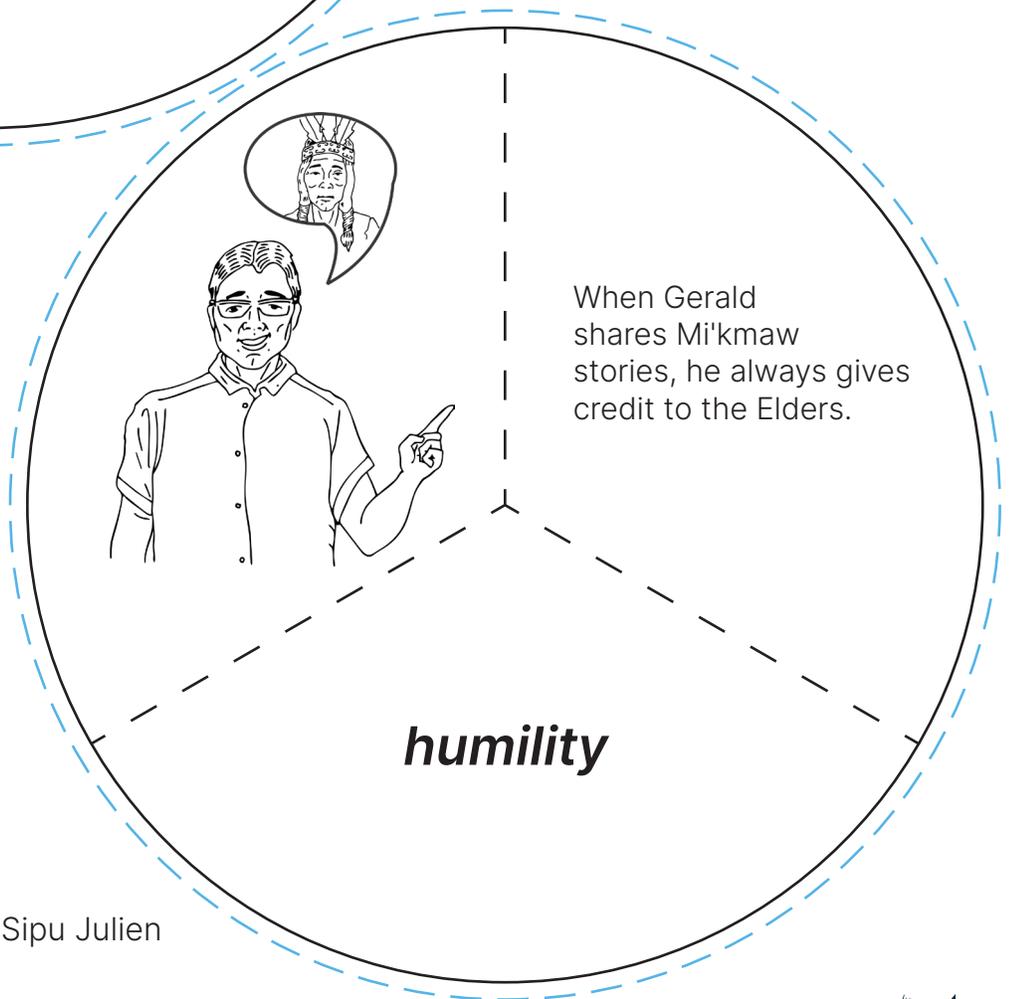

Why do eels
like salt water?

(Because pepper
water makes them
sneeze!)

humour

Cards are to be cut
along dotted lines
before distributing
to learners.

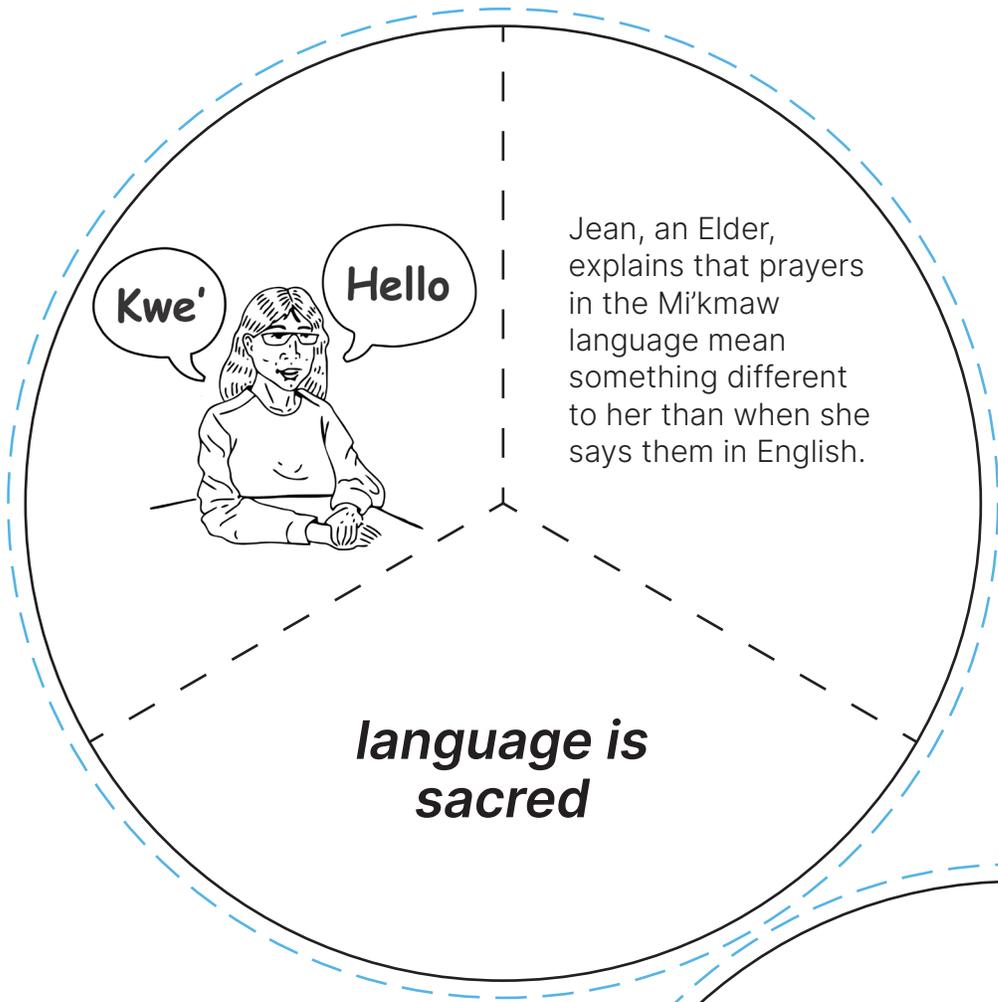

When Gerald
shares Mi'kmaw stories, he always gives credit to the Elders.

humility

Drawings by Sipu Julien

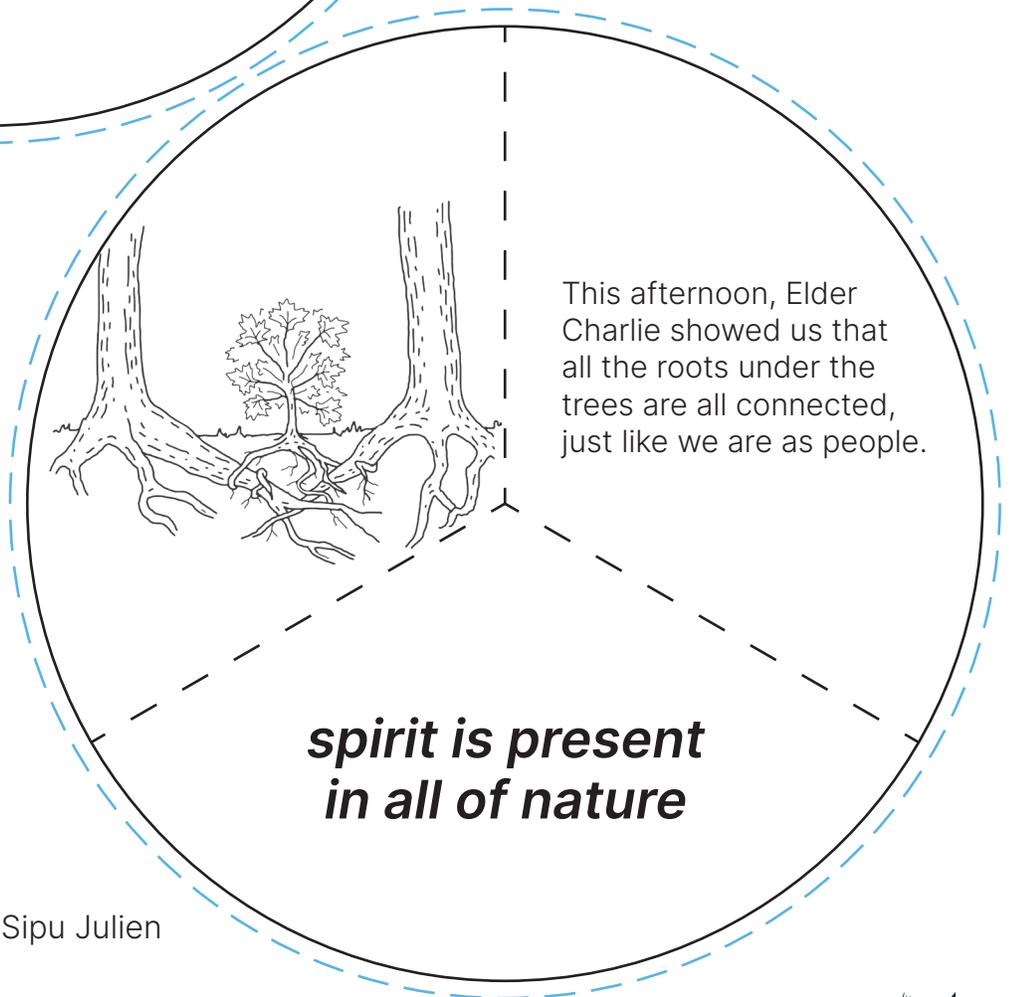

Jean, an Elder, explains that prayers in the Mi'kmaw language mean something different to her than when she says them in English.

language is sacred

Cards are to be cut along dotted lines before distributing to learners.

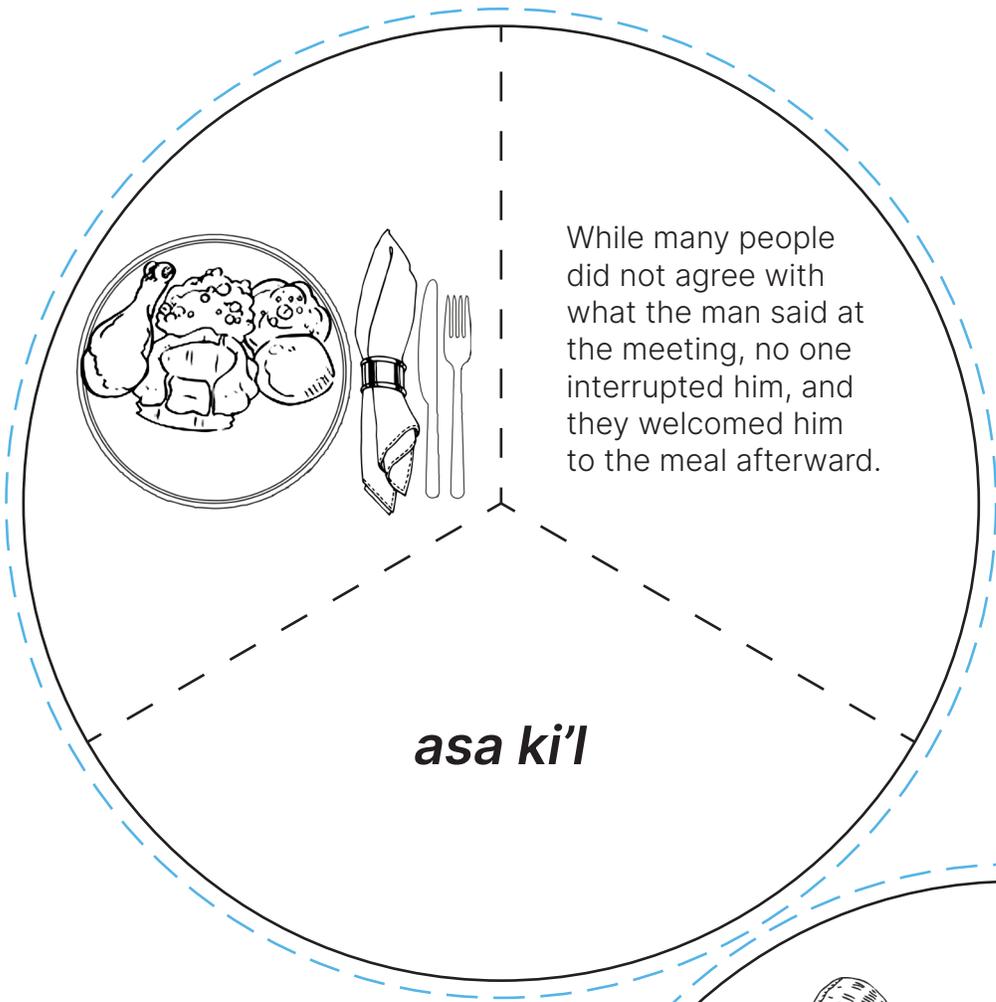

This afternoon, Elder Charlie showed us that all the roots under the trees are all connected, just like we are as people.

spirit is present in all of nature

Drawings by Sipu Julien

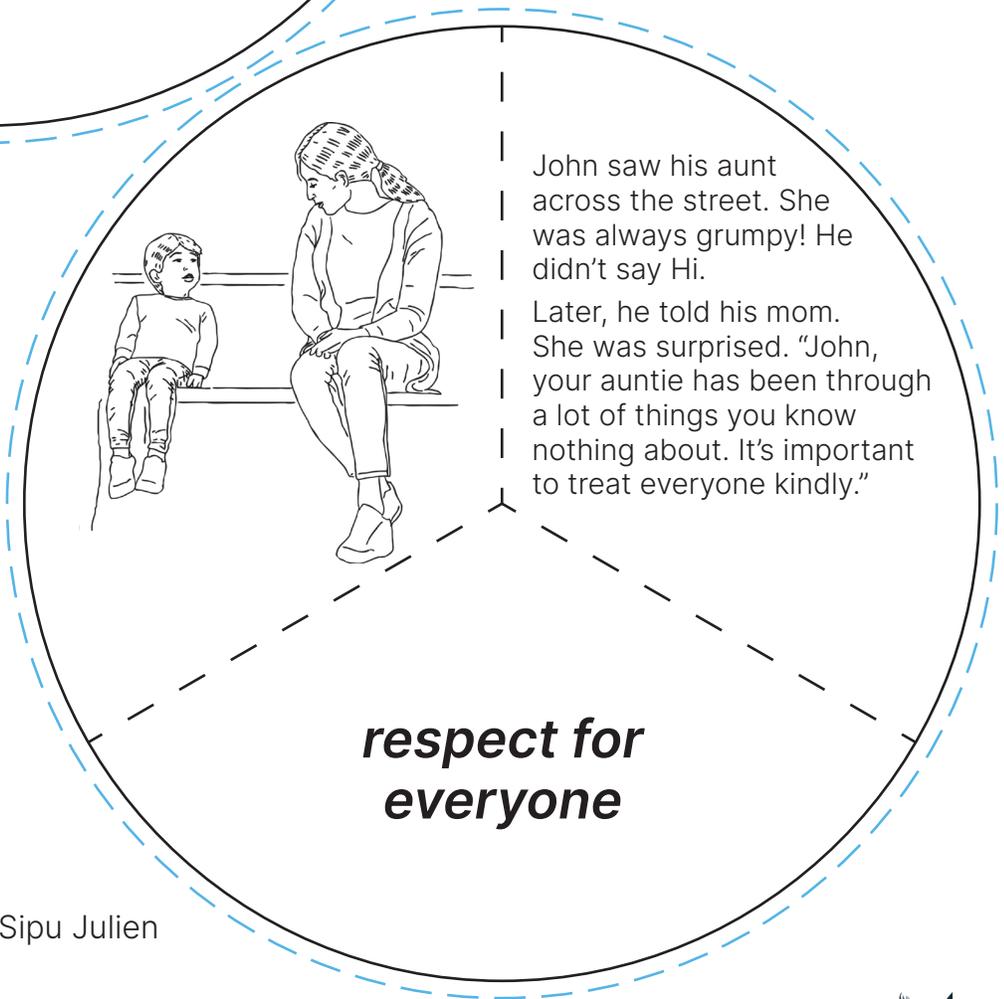

While many people did not agree with what the man said at the meeting, no one interrupted him, and they welcomed him to the meal afterward.

asa ki'l

Cards are to be cut along dotted lines before distributing to learners.

John saw his aunt across the street. She was always grumpy! He didn't say Hi.

Later, he told his mom. She was surprised. "John, your auntie has been through a lot of things you know nothing about. It's important to treat everyone kindly."

respect for everyone

Drawings by Sipu Julien

When Elder Knockwood smudged the group on Wednesday night, he used a braid of sweet grass as part of the ceremony.

sweet grass
is sacred

Cards are to be cut along dotted lines before distributing to learners.

When Kayla got home from school she found the door locked. She knew that she would be welcomed at Jane's house next door until her father got home.

care of children is everyone's duty

Drawings by Sipu Julien

